A function under the first British Concorde will be remembered for its prestige and unique setting!

Concorde 002 is the first British prototype Concorde. It first took off from Filton, Bristol on 9th April 1969 and went on to make 439 flights. Its last flight was made on 4th March 1976 when it was flown from Fairford to the Fleet Air Arm Museum at Yeovilton by the legendary test pilot Brian Trubshaw.

In addition to Concorde, the Exhibition Hall is home to other unique or rare aircraft including: the Fairey Delta 2, winner of the World Air Speed Record in 1956 and the first aircraft to fly at more than 1000mph; the Handley Page 115; Westland Wyvern and more.

Although large enough to house Concorde, the Hall can be arranged in a bespoke manner especially for you. We have a dance floor, staging, bar provision and even a magician available to create a truly atmospheric environment to suit your occasion and one you will never forget.
